Tübingen, Castle Bebenhausen is situated about 3 miles north of Tübingen. It is a well preserved building, originally erected in 1185 as a Cisterician monastery, and ranks as one of the finest Gothic structures in Swabia. It was restored in 1873/1875 and is now used as a Royal Hunting residence of the King of Wurtemburg. There is kept here a good collection of ancient armour, and also many other objects of interest make the place well worth a visit
